THE DEEPER THE BETTER.

Our Fissure Veins Showing Splendidly at 200 Feet—Holly Mine to be Started up—Large Shipments of Zinc Ore—The New Railroad Coming.

DIRECT TELEPHONE CONNECTION WITH PADUCAH.

Confidence in a new mining district, so far as the future is concerned, is largely a matter of the depth of ore veins. Will they last? is a query often made. The city of Leadville, Colorado, was built by its surface carbonates, it is continued by the discovery of the same class of ore at great depths. In some respects this district, outside of gold and silver values, can be compared with those of the rocky mountains. The same class of fissure veins prevail, with an occasional contact vein. No country or district, however, compares with Western Kentucky in the magnitude and number of its ore carrying fissures. The gangue in many instances is composed of a marketable product, worth from $5 to $12 per ton, the demand at times being in excess of the supply. It is not uncommon, in this section, to uncover a vein of this material carrying five per cent or more of galena, fully 30 feet in width, the zinc ore coming in at a greater depth.

The question of continuance is a vital one, and it is being answered by the developments already made, in a very positive, affirmative way. The uncovering last week at the Memphis mine at 184 feet depth of heavy galena in the characteristic high grade fluor spar of that mine is most convincing. Indeed the Memphis vein has always been a heavy producer of almost pure white fluor spar. At some 150 feet zinc blende appeared with the spar; at 175 feet a very superior grade of fluor spar, un-mixed with lead or zinc ores, was encountered, and at 184 feet the lead ores again asserted themselves and so continue. This means much more than appears on the surface to not only our mining men but to all who have the interest of the district in mind.

The Columbia mine, in its lowest workings, has a vein of remarkable strength and size, carrying ores of lead and zinc, with scarcely a trace of fluor spar. The depth here is some 160 feet, fully deep enough to satisfy any man or company in the erection of the most modern separating plant.

The Hodge mine, resembling the Memphis in many respects, has a depth approaching that of the Columbia, with great bodies of fluor spar carrying lead and zinc through it in a disseminated form.

The Yandell mine is a great producer of fluor spar, with kidneys of galena from a pigeon's egg in size up to those of several pounds in weight.

The Lucile mine at 140 feet shows a strong vein of fluor spar, with more or less lead and zinc ores through it.

The Moore mine, at 100 feet has very fine fluor spar, with galena in masses, interspersed.

The Cullen mine carries a very high percentage of zinc blende, with fluor spar, and is something over a hundred feet in depth. This list of our deeper workings could be extended to a great extent, yet enough properties in different sections have been named to show that our fissure veins are in every respect similar to those of the mountain country. The proof of continuous high grade ore veins has been made so far as depth and quantity and quality of ores are concerned, to warrant the most extensive investments on the part of capitalists and mining men.

Work is progressing rapidly at Gladstone, Ky., where the Gladstone Coal & Coke company are building a tipples with a capacity of 1200 tons per day, and putting in side tracks having capacity for a full days run. It is the intention of the company to at once begin the erection of 200 coke ovens and to coke a large portion of their output, as they have three veins of very high grade coking coal. They will at once begin the erection of some fifty double houses for their employees. The mines will be equipped with a high class electric plant, which system will be used for mining and haulage. Mr. R. S. Weitzell, C. & M. E. of Zanesville, Ohio, has been appointed manager of the property. The company have purchased and have under option about 20,000 acres of this high class coking coal. Mr. W. W. Benson, of Philadelphia, Vice President of the company, is here taking titles to the property as fast as they are passed on by the Kentucky Title company, of Louisville, who have a force at work in this city examining titles to the various properties. The company are being assisted by M. Alfred Butsch, of Evansville, and Blue & Nunn of Marion, who have charge of the legal end of the matter.

Dr. Smith's contribution to the recent publication by the geological survey regarding the ore veins in this district, is not what one would call decisive. A stranger to the district would be at a loss to know whether the doctor wasn't hedging on everything that he talks about. Some one said that language was made to conceal thoughts; the doctor seems to have that an idea in mind to a remarkable degree. We hope in his final report something will be said that will bear the stamp of at least "positiveness."

The second shaft on the Wilson Mining company's ground near Crittenden springs is in ore; apparently one side of the vein only is touched.

The Kewanee Fire Clay company, or some one or two of its principal stockholders have a prospect on the Franklin farm that was recently purchased by them of lead, ore and fluor spar that is most favorable.

Their mining captain on the Felix Cox farm intimates that the ore in the shaft recently established on this farm, has pinched out and the pump has been withdrawn and the machinery made ready to move. It is very likely that further work would show this vein in better form than ever, as we do not know of an instance in this section where the vein matter disappears entirely.

The formal opening of the new telephone exchange of the Peoples company took place on Tuesday at Paducah. The office, which comprises the whole of a large out stone building, is admirably arranged. The service lines are brought into the building through underground conduits, and taken to the switch board, located in a large, well lighted, handsome room. Eight or ten American beauties are employed, the board being so arranged that several hundred phones are under the control of one operator, making the least possible delay. Retiring rooms and recreation rooms provided with a library of current literature, and the general offices of the company, are in the same building.

Ridgway, Ill., News: The surveying party for the new railroad have been at work here this week on what is called the permanent or final survey, and it is said that when this is done, condemnation proceedings will be commenced where required to secure right of way, then contracts for the grading can be let. It is thought now that there can be no question but what the road will be built this summer.

The Barnett company, composed of well known gentlemen of this and adjoining counties, opened up on a fluor spar deposit in the vicinity of Sheridan, and by drifting at 25 feet depth on the limestone, found their fissure well filled with lead ore and spar. Mr. Noe, of Morganfield, who happened to be passing at the time, says that the showing is a particularly fine one.

Communication was had on Sunday last with Paducah over the Peoples Independent Telephone company's line. The tones were as clear and distinct as though but half a block away. Paducah merchants will be very greatly benefited by this connection, so far as increased trade goes, with our Marion people.

It is learned that the Philadelphia company who are opening the coal property at Nunn Switch 10 miles north of Marion, have made arrangements with the Illinois Central railroad for 30 coal cars per day to handle their output. This means between ten and fifteen hundred tons daily.

After a hard battle the boys at the Lucile mine have about conquered the water in the two shafts with their little 2-inch pump, notwithstanding the predictions of the doubters. Mine boss Alvey will soon have the work of sinking in full blast again.

Over 1,000,000 pounds of zinc ores, comprising both carbonates and sulphides, is being moved to the railroad from the Old Jim mine, Blue & Nunn's property for shipment to the Northern smelters.

Arrangements are being made for the establishment of a complete steam laundry plant in this city, by a gentleman well versed in the business from Illinois.

Mining at the Columbia has been entirely suspended, and no more work will probably be done until the new separating plant is ready for operation.

We hear via Lola that the Marion Zinc company commenced work on the McDowell lease last Monday, Mr. Sidney Watson being foreman.

The hoist boilers, steam drills, etc., for deepening the Holly shaft will arrive this week and work commence at that mine.

ASHER NOMINATED.

For Circuit Clerk by the Republicans.

BOURLAND SECOND IN STRENGTH.

John Gilliam Asher is the nominee of the Republicans for circuit clerk of Crittenden county, selected at the meeting of the county committee Monday afternoon.

Immediately after the convention assembled Mr. Charles A. Moore announced his withdrawal from the race. He stated that he had been offered an excellent position under Collector E. T. Franks. He requested his friends among the committeemen to vote for whom they pleased. Mr. Moore's withdrawal was a surprise to his friends.

On the first ballot the vote was as follows:

John Asher,	21
L. E. Guess,	12
J. C. Bourland,	10
H. Koltinsky,	1

The second ballot resulted as follows:

Asher,	21
Bourland,	14
Guess,	9

Mr. Guess being the weakest candidate according to the second ballot, his name was dropped.

The third ballot was taken and the vote stood:

Asher,	30
Bourland,	14

Asher was declared the nominee, having received seven votes above the number required to win the nomination. One committeeman was absent and sent no proxy, hence the total vote was forty-four instead of forty-five.

The defeated candidates pledged their support to the nominee and took their defeat in good humor.

Mr. Asher is a well known farmer of the eastern portion of the county. He is very popular with his party and is a worthy gentleman.

A CARD.

I take this method to tender my sincere thanks to those true friends who stood so firmly and loyally by me during my recent candidature for the circuit clerkship, and will ever retain for them a warm place in my heart of hearts.

The successful candidate, Mr. John G. Asher, is a true gentleman, a true Republican, and is deserving of the hearty support of every member of the party. He shall certainly have my earnest support, and I trust that of all my friends.

Very resp'y,
JOE BOURLAND.

FOR SALE

High Class Mineral Rights!

About 3000 feet lineal of same vein as the Riley mine and joins Riley mine. Land owned by J. C. Kinsolving. The rights cover everything but the farming privileges. Owner will show vein. Experts say there are four or five locations for shafts that promises as much as the Riley mine. 500 feet of this vein cannot be worked out in a life time. Club together and buy this good property. Will pay a commission for sale. Address

Geo. C. Hughes,

Price $7,500. 613 Broadway, PADUCAH, KY.

A CARD.

To the Committeemen and Republicans of Crittenden County:

I wish to extend my sincere thanks for the interest shown in my behalf in the late contest for nominating a candidate for circuit court clerk; and while I was not the fortunate candidate, I know you have done what you thought best for our party, and I am ever ready to fight for our nominee and to extend to him the right hand of fellowship.

Wishing him success in his future race, and again thanking you, one and all, I remain

Yours truly,
LEARNER E. GUESS.

REMAINS FREDONIA.

Effort to Change Name of Station Has Been Defeated.

Frankfort, Ky., May 1.—The appellate court today reversed the Caldwell circuit court in the case of the town of Fredonia vs. Henry Rice and others. A suit was filed to prevent the establishment of the town of Kelsey at the station of Fredonia. The lower court granted the petition to establish the town of Kelsey. Fredonia gave $10,000 to the Ohio Valley railroad to name its station after the town, and the appellate court holds that the contract can not be broken.

Democratic Committee Call.

The Crittenden county Democratic committee is hereby called to meet at the office of P. S. Maxwell, in Marion, Ky., on Tuesday, May 12th, 1903, at 10 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of counting and certifying the vote cast at the primary election, and for the transaction of other important business. The members of the committee and the officers of election should see that the primary election is properly held, and that the ballots, ballot-boxes and certificates of election and stenoids, pads, etc., are all returned to the chairman before Tuesday, May 12th.

The election officers should be sworn according to law, and the primary be conducted in all respects, and in the same manner, as a regular November election.

P. S. Maxwell, Ch'n.
C. S. Nunn, Sec'y.

Notice to Road Supervisors.

Your roads are in very bad condition and must be repaired. No excuses will be taken. If you can not take the time to put your road in good condition now, call out your hands and fix the bad places and do not wait for fall to come to put your roads in good condition. I will, within the next few days, have warrants issued for all supervisors who fail to repair their roads and prosecute them to the extent of the law.

CARL HENDERSON,
Attorney for Crittenden Co.

THE OLD RELIABLE

ROYAL

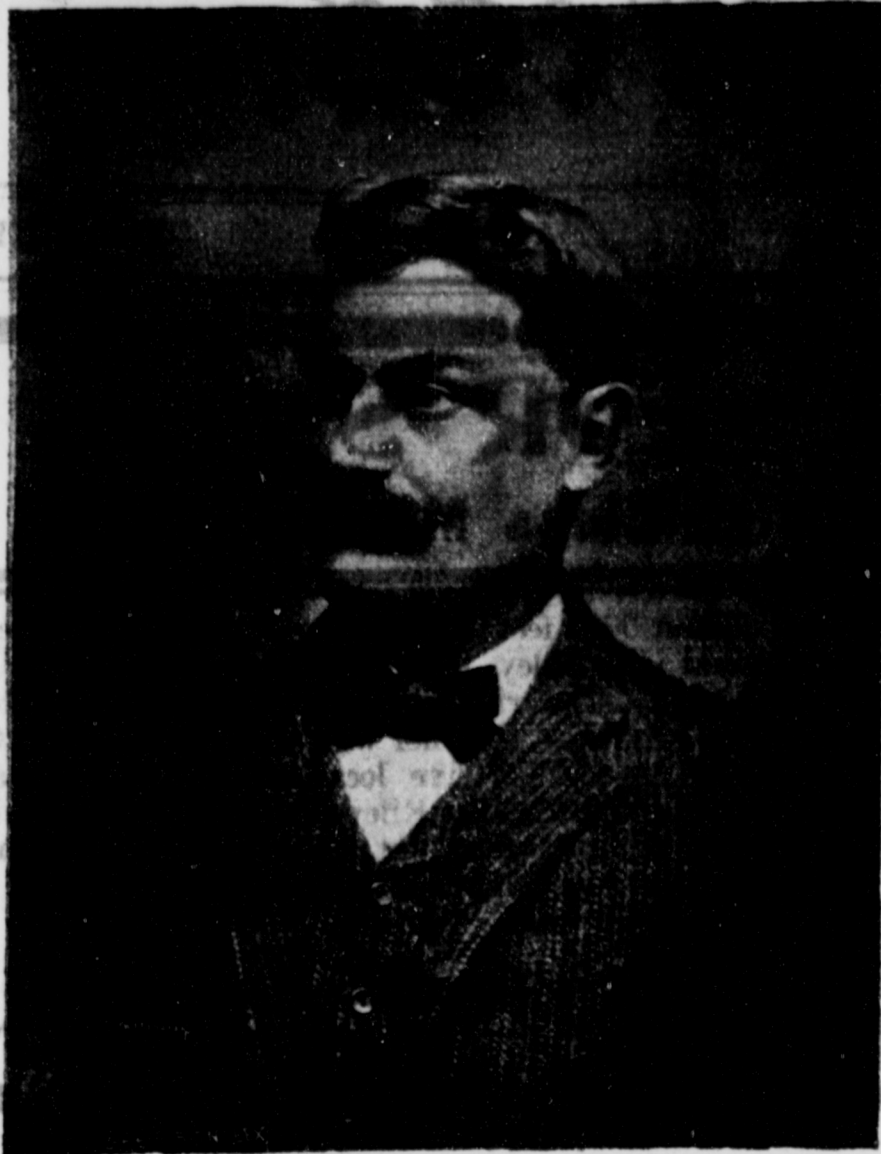

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE

A Popular Candidate

H. M. BOSWORTH.

Henry M. Bosworth, ex-sheriff of Fayette county, candidate for State Treasurer, is the man who, at the head of his deputies marched into the train at Lexington in the very face of death and W. S. Taylor's assassins—soldiers—dragged out Caleb Powers and Capt. Davis and landed them in jail; then with rare magnanimity refused the reward of $1,500 for their arrest, offered by the martyred William Goebel's brothers.

Henry Bosworth, the lion hearted, iron nerved ex-sheriff of Fayette county, is a candidate for State Treasurer. Mr. Bosworth is a time tried Democrat, an 18-karat Democrat. He was an intimate friend of Kentucky's martyred governor, William Goebel, who always selected him as a leader in times which were full of trouble, and clear heads and firm hands were needed.

If devotion to Democratic principles, if loyalty to Democratic leaders, if courage to perform duty without reward, at the risk of life, deserve success, then truly ought Henry Bosworth to receive the vote of every Democrat. When the fair name of our old commonwealth was assailed, when anarchy ran riot and Republicanism was dominant, through military despotism and assassination, no man showed greater love and solicitude for his state and his party than did Henry Bosworth.

Read the pages of political history of Kentucky and nowhere will you find a more shining example of bravery and manhood than that page that records the capture of Caleb Powers by Henry Bosworth.

Mr. Bosworth is a man of education and high ideals. He goes before the people of Kentucky with a record that is as "clean as a star" and asks the Democrats to consider him upon his record as a flawless Democrat and a true Kentuckian.

The above compliment to Mr. Bosworth from one of the leading Democratic papers of Kentucky is a true appreciation of Mr. Bosworth, as a man, a Democrat and a patriot.

Such notices from all over the state make "assurance doubly sure" that Henry Bosworth, the honest, incorruptible man who has always served his party in darkest as well as brightest hours, will be the next State Treasurer.

WHAT TAYLOR SAYS.

Declares Testimony of Cecil and Youtsey was Perjured.

W. S. Taylor of Kentucky commenting on the conviction of Jim Howard for the murder of Gov. Goebel said:

"Knowing absolutely that every word of Cecil and Youtsey's testimony, on which conviction was had, was perjury, so far as it in any way connected me with Mr. Howard; that it was manufactured by those who represented the prosecution in order to carry out a political plot, naturally I look on Howard's conviction as an awful crime. He was tried by a jury of political enemies, and his trial, therefore, was devoid of even the element of chance."

Taylor refused to discuss the case further, or to talk about the charges made against him or the possibility of a demand being made on Gov. Durbin for his return to Kentucky.

LUMBER GOES UP.

Prices of lumber continue to advance, and at present are the highest on record. It is predicted by those well informed in the business that even higher prices will be reached in the near future. Within the past few years prices have about doubled. Low grades of lumber which sold in Louisville two years ago for $12 or $14 per thousand feet now sell for $22 to $24. Cottonwood lumber, for instance, first and second grades, has advanced from $20 to $30 per thousand; cottonwood box boards have gone up from $26 to $33.50. Similar advances have been made on almost every grade and class.

Some of the reasons given are the floods and bad roads last fall, embargoes by railroads against lumber and the growing scarcity of all grades of wood. —Louisville Post.

CHARGE NOT SUSTAINED.

Sturgis, Ky., May 1.—The conspiracy and murder charges in the Farley-Burke case were not sustained. The accused, a farm hand and the wife of the deceased, were charged with killing the husband to get him out of the way. The charge was brought by the wife of the farm hand, who was jealous of her husband.

LYNCHING

Negroes at the North—Some Sound Argument.

Northern men who barate the South for its manner in dealing with the negroes will do well to give more than a passing moment's consideration to the lynching and race riot near Santa Fe, Illinois, Sunday.

A negro belonging to a gang of colored bridge workers attempted an assault on a little girl. An organized mob of white men caught him, secured his confession, took him to the vicinity of the negro camp, hung him to a tree and riddled him with bullets. Not satisfied with this the mob charged the negroes, shot several of them, and drove all to flight and burned their tents.

These white men were the farmers of the neighborhood—men of a class as law abiding as any in nation. Yet they acted with the same wild rage and hatred that is so often charged against the South as its characteristic fault. The lesson is clearly that there exists no such divergence of moral character between the two sections of the country as many Northern critics seem to believe. Put Northern men in Southern conditions and there is no reason to expect that they would be more moderate in their actions than are the Southerners.

Such double crimes are not all there is of the race problem, but their occasional appearance in the Northern States shows how great the need is for sobriety of judgment and thorough enlightenment upon that problem as a whole. The "holier than thou" critic, besides being wrong in his conceit, is an agent of positive harm. —Chicago Record-Herald.

Magnitude of World's Fair.

One may get an appreciation of the magnitude of the St. Louis World's Fair by comparison. The Centennial exposition covered 236 acres, the last Paris exposition 336 the Columbia exposition at Chicago 633, while that at St. Louis will cover 1,180 acres. The total cost of the Columbia exposition, the greatest the world has ever seen, was $27,250,000; that of the St. Louis Fair will be $40,000,000, exclusive of the State appropriations.

ST. LOUIS EXPOSITION.

Dedicated—A Magnificent Occasion.

The rites which present the Louisiana Purchase Exposition to the world were performed Thursday.

A parade of over 11,000 soldiers down Lindell boulevard to the World's Fair grounds formed a brilliant prelude to the ceremony of dedication.

This prelude over 60,000 people crowded into the big auditorium, where, in the presence of official representatives of all the civilized nations of the world, the words of dedication were spoken by the President of the United States. As the last syllable fell from the speaker's lips and the dedication of one of the world's greatest fairs was completed, 60,000 voices rose in prodigious note of applause.

President Roosevelt, former President Cleveland, and an imposing company of diplomats, governors, senators, congressional representatives, government officials, were present at the dedication of the exposition.

MAY WEATHER.

Nothing Encouraging in Hicks' Predictions.

According to Hicks we are to have some rough weather in May. His prediction, in part, is as follows:

"Active storms of rain, wind and thunder on and touching the 2d and 3rd. Much cooler weather will follow in the rear of these storms, giving many northern to central sections touches of chill and frost during some of the nights the first week in May.

"On and touching the 6th and 7th look for a decided and rapid change to falling barometer and quite warm, resulting in sharp electrical storms. As these storms pass eastward across the country, change to rising barometer and much cooler will follow from the west, giving possibly frosts in sections northward on the nights between the 7th and 10th, inclusive. "From the 11th to the 15th look for storms of rain, hail and thunder, some of them furious and tornadoic. A decided rise in the barometer, change of wind to the west and cooler will end the series of storms followed by nights cold enough for frost in northern and central states.

"About the 18th storm conditions will reach another maximum. After this storm look for very much cooler weather for two or three days.

"The last regular storm period for May reaches from the 22d to 28th, merging really with the reactionary disturbances due to the last three days of the month. This is another period in which heavy and dangerous storms are entirely probable. Monday, the 25th, to Thursday, the 28th will be the time of greatest violence. Many parts of the country will get heavy downpours of hail and rain at this and other May periods.

HOWARD IS GUILTY,

says the Jury—Sentenced to Life Imprisonment.

NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH PENALTY

The jury returned a verdict of guilty in the case of Jim Howard, charged with the murder of Gov. Wm. Goebel, and his punishment was fixed at imprisonment for life. The jury reached a verdict after four ballots. On the final ballot eleven jurors were for the death penalty but one held out against it and the others finally agreed to a life sentence.

Howard was unmoved by the reading of the verdict, and was apparently well pleased that he came off so well. He has been tried three times for the murder of Goebel. In the first trial he received the death sentence. A new trial was granted. In the second trial he was sentenced to life imprisonment. He again secured a new trial, and for the second time the life imprisonment sentence. A motion made Saturday for a new trial was overruled. Judgment was arrested pending an appeal to the Court of Appeals.

OBITUARY.

Mrs Fannie Bigham was born Nov. 20th, 1847. She was married to W. H. Bigham September 4th, 1867, with whom she lived happily until death called her home. She had been a faithful member of the Presbyterian church at Chapel Hill for twenty years. About 3 o'clock Wednesday evening, March 18th, 1903, our Father in heaven saw proper to call her to her eternal home. A husband, two sons and three daughters survive her, all of whom we trust are prepared to meet her in the better land.

She was a devoted wife and a tender, affectionate mother. Her life was filled with noble deeds of love and kindness. One great object of her life was to make others happy. She was looked upon by all as a model of christian character. Her sweet, gentle influence will always be remembered and cherished by those who are left behind.

We extend to the husband and children our tenderest sympathies. "Weep not, as those who have no hope." Emulate her example and be ready to live with her in the sweet by and bye.

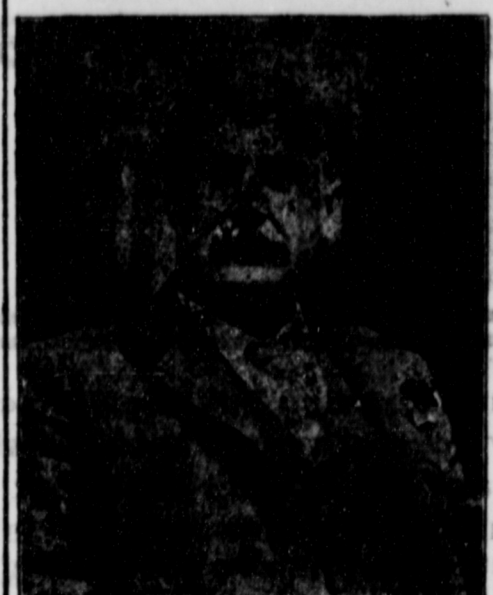

"Dearest Fannie thou hast left us,
Here thy loss we deeply feel;
But 'tis God that has bereft us,
He can all our sorrows heal.
Yet again we hope to meet thee,
When the day of life has fled,
There in heaven with joy to greet thee
Where no farewell tears are shed.
Then do thou guide our steps, oh! Lord
While thro' this world we are driven,
That we may meet our loved and lost
At thy right hand in heaven."

MCD. FERGUSON.

DEAR SIR: To you who do not know me I wish to say that I have served my Legislative District in the House of Representatives, after having been elected to the State Senate and re-elected; was appointed by Gov. Beckham as the trustee of A. & M. College in 1900, which position I hold for six years without pay.

This is the FIRST TIME IN MY LIFE that I ever aspired to be elected to an office with a good salary attached. One of my opponents will have drawn from the State Treasury $16,000, besides all his traveling expenses, and is now a candidate for a third term.

It has been the custom to endorse a man who has made an efficient officer, but I hold it to be UNDEMOCRATIC for any Democrat to aspire to a third term, (where the term is 4 or more years) unless he can show that the State's interest would materially suffer unless he continued in office.

Should you elect me I promise to give my untiring efforts to the faithful discharge of the duties of the office. May I not count you as one of my good friends who will help me? A word from you to some democratic friend will be highly appreciated.

Yours truly,
MCD. FERGUSON.

HAY FEVER UNKNOWN.

Certain it is, and many years of careful experience are back of the statement, that hay fever, and kindred annoying and troublesome summer affections distressing to so many thousands all over the country, recurring as regularly as July and August, are absolutely unknown in the "Highlands of Ontario." Thousands of people go to Muskoke, Georgian Bay or the Lake of Bays every year for nothing else but to avoid hay fever, and find perfect immunity from the ailment, and many by going there regularly for a period of a few years are said to be permanently cured.

Hay fever booklet may be had free for the asking by applying to R. McC. SMITH, Sou. Pass. Agt. Grand Trunk Ry., 124 Woodward Ave., Detroit.

"Wait," she replied, "till I get a pencil."

The Baths of Caracalla.

The Romans appear to have been well off in the matter of bathing places in the first and second centuries. In the baths of Caracalla 1,600 bathers could be accommodated at one time. The enclosed area was 360 square yards, but it included a course for foot races. The bathing establishment was 240 yards in length by 124 wide. The remains of the walls are 8 and 10 feet thick and in some places as much as 50 feet high.

BACON AND SHAKESPEARE.

The Two Men Separately and the Two in One Being.

Aristotle was an extraordinary man. Plato was an extraordinary man. That two men each severally so extraordinary should have been living at the same time in the same place was a very extraordinary thing. But would it diminish the wonder to suppose the two to be one? So I say of Bacon and Shakespeare. That a human being possessed of the faculties necessary to make a Shakespeare should exist is extraordinary. That a human being possessed of the necessary faculties to make Bacon should exist is extraordinary. That two such human beings should have been living in London at the same time was more extraordinary still. But that one man should have existed possessing the faculties and opportunities necessary to make both would have been the most extraordinary thing of all.

Great writers, especially being contemporary, have many features in common, but if they are really great writers they write naturally, and nature is always individual. I doubt whether there are five lines together to be found in Bacon which could be mistaken for Shakespeare or five lines in Shakespeare which could be mistaken for Bacon by one who was familiar with their several styles and practiced in such observations.—James Spedding's "Essays."

Physiological Autographs.

Every human being carries with him from his cradle to his grave certain physical marks which do not change their character and by which he can always be identified, and that without shade of doubt or question. These marks are his signature, his physiological autograph, so to speak, and this autograph cannot be counterfeited, nor can he disguise it or hide it away, nor can it become illegible by the wear and the mutations of time.

This autograph consists of the delicate lines or corrugations with which nature marks the insides of the hands and the soles of the feet. If you will look at the balls of your fingers, you will observe that these dainty curving lines lie close together, like those that indicate the borders of oceans in maps, and that they form various clearly defined patterns, such as arches, circles, long curves, whorls and so forth, and that these patterns differ on the different fingers.—"Pudd'nhead Wilson."

Strange Uses For Mirrors.

The celebrated Beau Brummel during the first years of his exile, while yet his fame as a dandy was pre-eminent, had the ceiling of his bedroom covered with mirrors so that even while at rest he could study elegance and assume a graceful pose. For such a purpose a glass ceiling is, however, not unique, and the notorious Duchess of Cleveland had such another constructed to gratify her vanity.

For a far different reason a certain Yorkshire gentleman of the last century had his ceiling paneled with mirrors. Ardently devoted to the sport of cockfighting, he continued to the last to enjoy his favorite pastime and even when on his deathbed his room was the scene of many an exciting fight, which, lying on his back, he saw reflected in the glass overhead.

A Tender Husband.

In connection with a slight affection of Mrs. Ulysses S. Grant's eyes a very pretty story is told indicative of General Grant's tender devotion to her. When he was president, she became somewhat sensitive about her eyes—she suffered from strabismus—and consulted a specialist to see what could be done for her. The specialist told her he thought he could improve her eyes, but the operation would be painful. She consulted her husband to learn whether he would advise the operation. "Don't have it done, dear," said the general, pressing her cheeks with his two hands. "Let those dear eyes stay just as they are. If they were changed, I might not recognize my sweetheart."

Promises are Good But to Do is Better!

When a house states that they'll sell you goods for less money than you can buy them elsewhere, that it will pay YOU to trade with them and so forth, they have done no more than every house in the country does—they all boldly claim to do exactly the same thing. So if claims, promises and big talk is all that you are looking for, you can get that anywhere, everywhere at exactly the same price. But to put the prices in "cold type" and defy competition to match them, is an argument that is not answered by claims and promises. We not only claim that we can save you some money, but we "SHOW YOU." Now, here are a few of the many good things:

A line of regular 20c lawns and organdies 10c
A line of regular 8 1-3c lawns for 6c.
A line of regular $1.25 lace curtains for 99c
A line of regular $1.25 white quilts for 98c

We are authorized to announce JUDGE J. F. GORDON, of Hopkins county, for Circuit Judge in the Fourth Judicial district, subject to the action of the Democratic party, Election November 1903.

FOR COMMONWEALTH ATTORNEY

We are authorized to announce JOHN L. GRAYOT, of Smithland, as a candidate for re-election to the office of Commonwealth's Attorney of the Fourth Judicial district, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary to be held on May 9th, 1903.

FOR RAILROAD COMMISSIONER.

We are authorized to announce SENATOR McD. FERGUSON, of McCracken county, as a candidate for Railroad Commissioner of the First district of the State of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic primary to be held May 9th, 1903.

We are authorized to announce J. F. DEMSEY of Hopkins county as a candidate for Railroad Commissioner of the First Kentucky district, subject to the action of the Democratic primary to be held May 9th, 1903.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE.

We are authorized to announce T. EVERETT BUTLER a candidate for Representative from Crittenden and Livingston counties in the next General Assembly of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

FOR STATE TREASURER

We are authorized to announce HENRY BOSWORTH of Fayette county, a candidate for State Treasurer, subject to the Democratic Primary, May 9, 1903. He will appreciate your vote and influence.

SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

We are authorized to announce BEN WATT, a candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, May 9th, 1903.

Work expended in making public roads is like putting fertilizer on poor lands—it brings adequate and immediate returns.

The road problem is a serious thing for this county, but let us thank our stars that this is not Breathitt county.

It is not infrequently the case that he who cries "boss" is either doing the "boss act" himself or is about to lose his job as a "boss."

The way your Uncle Grover has quietly come from the region of innocuous desuetude, made a popular strike on the negro question and showed himself pleasantly at St. Louis, all during the fishing season, makes it plain reading that he has something else beside law lectures on his mind.

Mr. Augustus Willson, of Louisville, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor. It will evidently be a pretty warm struggle between him and Judge Pratt.

Great, learned and able are three qualifications that we associate with the ideal leader, but it sometimes happens that the less pretentious along these lines embody, in a more striking manner, the qualifications of being true and faithful to a cause.

Because Harry McChesney has no opposition for the nomination for Secretary of State, do not conclude that his name is not on the ballot for Saturday's primary. His name is there, and as he was born and reared in this county, put in one for him.

The per capita of money in the country according to the latest report is $29.58. A few years ago it was $22.00, and then it was claimed by the "money devils" that the latter amount was sufficient for all purposes, but nobody has entered a complaint because of injuries resulting from the increase.

There will be no device on the ballot to be used at Saturday's primary. Each office has a column on the ballot and all the candidates for that office are in that column, and there is a small square to the right of each name. To vote for your choice, you simply stamp in the square after his name. There is a separate ballot for railroad commissioner.

The rules and requirements of the church are amply sufficient, it is failing to live up to them that retards the growth of the church and dwarfs the spiritual life of many members. The present road system is good; it is a failure to measure up to its requirements or take advantage of its privileges that gives us the poor road, and creates the demand for a road tax.

Be sure to vote Saturday for a candidate for Superintendent of Public Instructions who favors the school book law, as embodied in the measure before the last legislature. The difference in the price the people of Crittenden county have paid for school books in the last five years and the price paid by any county in Indiana, of the same size, where the law is in operation, would build more than one turnpike in this county.

There was a general fight among the congregation of 2,000 people in the Slavonic Roman Catholic church at Joliet, Ill., Monday. The fight was started by a woman. A detachment of policemen was summoned and the officers were compelled to draw their pistols and threaten to fire before order was restored.

+ SCHOOL CLOSSES.

The Commencement Exercises Begin this Evening.

THE FRUITS OF A GOOD YEAR.

The ninth year's work of the Marion graded schools ends this week. The practical result of the term is summed up as follows: Thirty-five common school graduates, seven high school graduates, one hundred and fifty promotions. During the year one hundred and twenty dollars were cleared on entertainments for the library, and rooms and twenty-five dollars were expended for magazines and papers. The work is highly satisfactory to patrons, pupils and teachers.

The commencement exercises begin this evening. The common school class will entertain. "An Evening with Longfellow" is the program for tonight. The common school exercises will be concluded tomorrow evening with "A Riley Sochal."

The program of the high school entertainment for Saturday evening consists of addresses by the graduates, followed by an address by Prof. Bartholomew, Principal of the girls high school, of Louisville. Misses Nellie Champion, Susie Gilbert, Leslie Woods, Bessie Trisler, Mabel Guess, and Messrs Ernest Paris and L. E. Gilbert are the high school graduates. Miss Champion is the valedictorian, and Miss Gilbert is the salutatorian.

The closing exercises will be up to the old standard. The programs to be carried out are somewhat unique, and will prove highly entertaining.

The common school graduates are:

Arthur Watkins, Cora Melton, Willie Carliss, Carry Gill, Roy Lamb, Mertie Todd, Luther Riley, Mabel Wilson, Lelah Bowen, Mary Lou Wilborn, Daisy Clark, Carrie Carter, John Sutherland, Noble Hill, Annie Williams, Della Stenbridge, Lue Dean, A. U. Davidson, Pearl James, Willie Croft, Allie May Yates, Richard Rowland, Silvia Travis, H. L. Lamb, W. M. Ward, Walter Rankin, Verne Pickens, Wm Ford, Mattie Perry, Eula Thurman.

The souvenir programs issued by the Press are very attractive, and have been universally admired.

Mr. Augustus E. Willson of Louisville Monday announced himself a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor. The Republicans of Hart county, at a meeting in Munfordsville, adopted resolutions calling Morris B. Belknap of Louisville to become a candidate for Governor.

STRONGLY ENDORSED.

The Old Work of the School Board Approved by the Voters.

"If we can establish a good school, bring order out of chaos, and our course meets public approval, we will stand together as a school board until the bonds are paid." This was a compact made by H. A. Haynes, J. N. Clark, W. B. Yandell, J. W. Blue, J. M. Freeman and R. C. Walker seven years ago.

"When, after mature consideration, a majority of the board votes for any proposition, the vote shall be made unanimous." Upon these unwritten agreements the board has managed the affairs of the school, and seven times annually has this board been endorsed by the voters of the district. At a number of the elections efforts have been made to defeat the board, all kinds of grievances being offered by the opposition, but each time the people have shown their loyalty to the school and faith in the six members of the board by large majorities at the polls.

Saturday morning it was currently reported that the opposition had organized, and an effort would be made to beat the old board, and this stirred up the friends of the school, and within an hour after the polls opened 75 votes were polled for the two retiring members of the old board, and the opposition failed to show its hand, and the re-election of Messrs. Haynes and Clark was practically unanimous, by a vote of 122—the largest ever polled for members of the board.

The board is very naturally proud of this endorsement and will continue to make every effort to keep the school up to its present high standard.

WATER WORKS.

"If the city council would give us a franchise and make a reasonable contract for supplying it with water, I could organize a company to put in water works without any trouble," said a local capitalist to the Press a few days ago. The city needs water works, for both the convenience and health of the people, and were all the streets macadamized, there would be practically no opposition to a movement of this kind, but as the council has taken up the work of improving the streets, we believe that all the funds available should be used for that purpose, and that this line of improvement should be pushed without let or hindrance. Two or three years work should give us fine streets and then we will be ready for water works.

SOCIAL AFFAIRS.

Several Pleasant Entertainments During the Past Week.

Miss Annie Williams entertained a number of her friends at her home Saturday evening. Pleasant games were enjoyed and strawberries, ices and cake were served.

Miss Leslie Woods informally entertained the members of the high school graduating class Friday evening in a most charming manner.

In compliment to her visitor, Miss Sheldon, of Wisconsin, Miss Mary Maxwell entertained Thursday evening from eight thirty to eleven o'clock. About thirty guests were present.

The principal feature of the evening's entertainment was a "wax working contest." Each guest was provided with a palette and cakes of wax. The hostess stated that after chewing the wax each guest should form some animal or bird on the palette, and prizes would be awarded the best figures. The creations of the many amateur sculptors afforded much amusement. The first prize was awarded to Miss Ruth Thomas, Mr. H. H. Sayre captured the second prize, and Col. D. C. Roberts was the recipient of the book prize.

A dainty luncheon, consisting of salads, olives, strawberries, ices, cakes, and fruit punch, was served late in the evening. The parlors were prettily decorated with dogwood blossoms.

The affair was one of the prettiest, and one of the most delightful social events of the season.

Mrs. Carrie Maxwell entertained twenty six of her lady friends on Saturday afternoon. Miss Sheldon, of Wisconsin, was the guest of honor. It is needless to say that the occasion was a very agreeable one.

The dance given at the Williams pool room Tuesday evening was attended by nearly half a hundred ladies and gentlemen. The Smithland colored band furnished the music. Refreshments were served. The room was decorated in a most attractive manner.

THE LATEST.

Andrew Carnegie is said to have declared in London for the State ownership of railway systems.

Government officials raided an illicit still in Estill county. The moonshiners escaped.

Denial is given to the report that the Prince of Wales will visit the World's Fair.

Mrs. Mott Ayres, wife of editor Mott Ayres, of the Fulton Leader died a few days ago. Mrs. Ayres was 27 years of age.

A posse at Lagrange raided a blind tiger, capturing a stock of whiskey and a gambling outfit and making several arrests.

A clergyman in Hartford, Conn. refused to marry a couple because the man had been divorced some 10 years before. He made the announcement as he came up to the chancel rail.

The case of Caleb Powers was called at Georgetown yesterday. The probability is that the trial will not take place at this term of court. The cases against Harlan Whittaker, "Tallow Dick" Combs and John Davis were continued.

James B. Marcum, a prominent lawyer and United States Commissioner, was assassinated Monday while standing in the door of the Jackson court house, conversing with a friend. The shots were fired from the corridor of the court house, one striking Marcum in the back and the other passing through the top of his head. He had gone to the court house to file papers for the reopening of the Breathitt county contest cases. For several months, according to his own statement, he had been virtually a prisoner in his home, and his movements were carefully guarded. Recently the feud feeling apparently had abated and Mr. Marcum ventured to the courthouse despite the warning of his friends. No arrests have yet been made.

NO ROAD TAX.

The Fiscal Court Decides to Continue the Present System.

At the adjourned meeting of the fiscal court, it was decided to continue for this year the present system of road working. There was some question of the legality of levying a tax except at the regular October term of court, and the whole matter was laid over until the fall term. There is a disposition to give the overseers one more chance for doing good work under the present system, and if the work is directed intelligently, persistently and effectually this year, the tax proportion will not likely be considered again, but unless this is done we may make our arrangements to pay a road tax next. The court seems determined to improve the public highways, and if the old plan fails this year, the new will be given a fair trial.

BANK ELECTS OFFICERS.

At the regular annual meeting of the stockholders of the Marion Bank held in their banking rooms Wednesday, May 6th, the following officials were re-elected:
J. W. Blue, President.
Sam Gugenheim, 1st V. P.
J. V. Hayden, 2d V. P.
T. J. Yandell, Cashier.
D. Woods, Asst. Cashier.
A dividend of 12½ per cent. on the capital stock was declared, payable to the stockholders, and $3,500, also from the profits of the year was added to the surplus fund, increasing it to $13,500.
The old Board of Directors were re-elected.

OLD TIME SALARIES.

How the Officials of Long Ago
Were Paid.

SKINS INSTEAD OF MONEY.

The fathers of the Republic would have had little sympathy the demand for inflated official salaries which is so often heard at the present time. It was a notion of many of the best men in the good old times that the honor of public office was an offset for slender pecuniary compensation; they did not want official salaries to be set so high as to tempt men of mercenary instincts to seek public positions for private gain.

Following is the text of a salary act passed by the Legislature of the state of Franklin. The state of Franklin has had no place on the map for more than one hundred years, and it may be worth while to explain that it was the first commonwealth created west of the Alleghenies. Part of the territory which is included is now within the boundaries of North Carolina; the rest constitutes the state of Tennessee. The state of Franklin was organized in 1785, by hardy settlers who claimed that they were neglected by the government of North Carolina and by John Sevier as governor. It had a stormy existence of something more than three years. Here is the act:

"Be it enacted by the General assembly of the state of Franklin, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, that from the 1st day of January, 1788, the salaries of the officers of this commonwealth be as follows, to-wit:

"His excellency, the governor, per annum, 1,000 deer skins.

"His honor, the chief justice, 500 deer skins.

"The secretary of his excellency, the governor, 300 raccoon skins.

"The treasurer of the state 450 raccoon skins.

"Each county clerk 300 beaver skins.

"Clerk of the house of commons 300 raccoon skins.

"Justices fee for signing a warrant, 1 muskrat skin.

"Constable for serving a warrant one mink skin.

Enacted into law the 18th day of October, 1787 under the great seal of the state."

As the state of Franklin went out of existence March 1, 1788 this salary act was in force for only two months.—Evening Wisconsin.

LAUNDRY LINES.

Plenty of common soda in the water in which linen is washed will remove the stain of perspiration.

Buttons should be turned toward the board when ironing to prevent their being broken or rubbed off by the iron. The most satisfactory method of sprinkling clothes is to use a good whisk broom kept expressly for that purpose.

Water that is softened with a little borax is useful in the laundry for whitening clothes and effecting a saving of soap.

Unrinsed underclothing is much the best wear, as retaining the fragrance and freshness of open air drying. This is worth meditation by housekeepers.

To preserve the ecrú tint of lace in laundering put it through this starch colored with tea or coffee or simply rinse in tea or coffee water. For old lace tea gives the best tint.

Irons should always be kept in a dry place. A convenient thing to keep under the set tubs or in some other out of the way corner is a soap box, into which may be placed the fatirons, holders, stand and wax cloth when not in use.

Woman With Humor.
If you consider the list of your friends, it will not take you long to discover that the woman you like best is the woman with a sense of humor. She is the one you think of first if you are getting up a picnic or a card party. If it rains or it shines, if anybody else is cross and grumpy, the woman with a sense of humor can extract fun out of the dreariest proposition, and the first thing you know she has set everybody to laughing at her droll sayings and turned defeat into a triumph, for who cares whether your original plan was carried out or not just so everybody has a good time?

A sense of humor is said to be lacking in most women. Alas, I have found this only too true! But I have noticed that when a woman does have it the men are the first to find it out, and all she has to do to acquire a husband is to pick and choose. The day of the girl with the doll face is going out, and the day of the girl with a sense of humor is coming in.—Harper's Bazar.

Value of Massage.
Massage as a treatment for the muscles of the face is without a rival to restore the normal beauty of contour and expression. No matter how many wise resolutions we may make for ourselves not to pucker up the eyebrows, not to allow these horizontal lines to form across the forehead, not to let the corners of the mouth droop down, etc., we will do them all at times in spite of ourselves. Now, massage comes in as a vigorous counter influence to the ravages of time, worry or care. The skilled manipulator can "plump up" more tired looking faces in an hour's treatment a day than most anything else that is known as a restorer of symmetry and good looks. A prolonged course of massage will render the skin more flexible and elastic than it naturally is, and it becomes even finer, softer and more supple under the skilled treatment.

Woman's Abilities.
In everyday life in matters where mental qualities are brought into play the woman, as every man knows, is able to take care of herself. On every occasion she shows herself as his equal in intelligence and wit. To what end, then, is all this ado to prove that woman is mentally inferior to man? No matter what learned professors may say, the world has pretty well made up its mind as to the place woman is entitled to hold in it, and deep treatises on the brain are not likely to affect that opinion so long as women continue to show the abilities which they display so freely today.—Worcester Spy.

A White Enamel Touch.
A pretty finish for a shabby dressing table is a coat of white enamel. Two coats of the paint will make a smooth and shining surface. The old paint should be removed from the wood and its surface thoroughly smoothed with fine sandpaper. A coat of shellac varnish applied and allowed to dry before the enamel goes on is said to improve the appearance of the table. The enamel is put on with a fine, stiff brush. The metal handles on the drawers can be brightened with gold paint.

Insurance Has Its Humor.

An enterprising insurance agent induced an Irishman to take out an accident policy for his wife. A few days later while conversing with a friend in his office he was startled to see the Irishman rush in, brandishing fiercely a stout cane.

"Ye rascal!" he yelled, springing toward the agent. "Ye wanten cheat me?"

Fortunately the enraged man was disarmed and held fast by the agent's friend, who was a powerfully built man. The Irishman, struggling to get free, shouted:

"Let me git at the spalpeen! Think ov it, chargin' me folve dollars fer an accident tikeet fer me ole woman, an' she jest broke her leg a-fallin' down stairs! Wot's the good of the tikeet anyhow?"

BUILDING LUMBER OF ALL KINDS.

HAVE A CLEAN KNIFE.

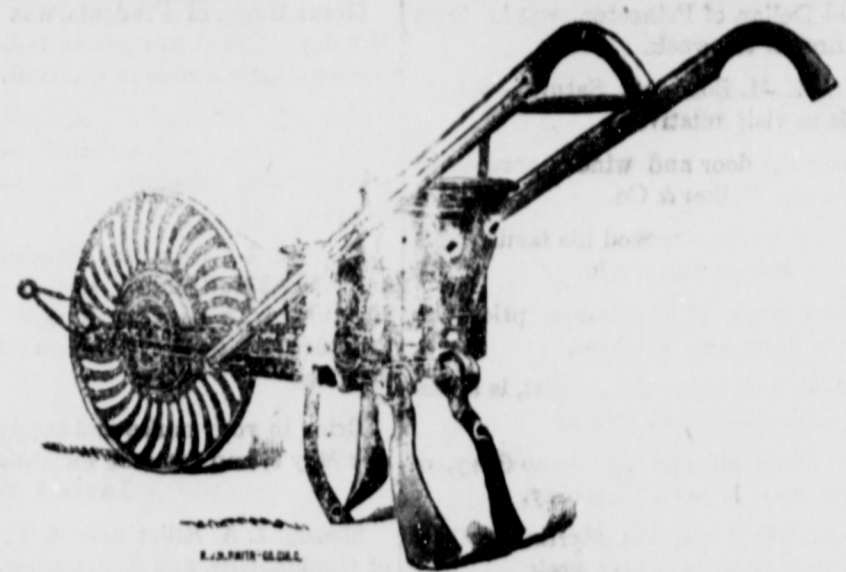

How a Little Carelessness May Prove Costly to the Farmer.

It is the common practice of farmers in this locality and probably in all localities to themselves attend to the castrating of their young animals, writes W. E. Craig of Ohio in Stockman and Farmer. Sometimes the young thing dies, and it is said that the operation was performed at the "wrong time of the moon." There is no doubt that often the bungling unskillfulness of the operation is the cause of death, yet we have known instances where the unclean condition of the knife used was the cause, and we think this is frequently the cause of trouble that is unjustly laid to the moon.

Two years ago a neighbor castrated forty young lambs and one calf for us. We had employed him for years and knew him to be skillful, yet in two days after the operation fourteen lambs were dead and the rest were stunted for life. There was much discussion in the neighborhood as to the cause of the trouble, but when it was found that the "sign was in the heart" that settled it. We were not satisfied with this explanation, and it took us two weeks to remember that the knife that had been used in the operation had been in contact with a small but virulent sore found on the first lamb caught. Blood poisoning killed the lambs, and the small amount of virus that remained on the knife from the sore had done the business.

The knife had been thoroughly wiped, but wiping does not answer. Always before any instrument is used surgically on an animal it should be held in the flame of a lighted match. This is a simple and convenient means of cleansing the knife or instrument, and doing so may save considerable loss many times.

SHEEP HUSBANDRY

We have of late received numerous communications, together with samples of wool, from subscribers anxious to know if the sheep from which the samples were taken were suffering from scab, says American Sheep Breeder. We have made microscopic examination of each sample submitted, but not in a single instance have we found any trace of this disease, but in almost every case have unmistakably detected injury to the fleece brought about by gross errors in feeding. Many of our western friends during the past winter have fed corn freely, but not judiciously, to animals unaccustomed to such fare, with the result that a fevered condition of the system was brought about, and the partial shedding of their fleeces followed in consequence. Then, on the other hand, sheep that had been well cared for fell into the hands of the unskillful feeder, and the ration with which they were furnished not being of the quality that would tend to keep them in a healthy condition, their fleeces became loose, and the consequent dejected appearance of the animals caused their owners to fear that they had a real case of scab on their hands.

A Farm Dipping Plant. C. H. Nimson, president Bellevue Farm company, Cranberry, N. C., sent the accompanying picture of the dipping plant used on that farm. The first on the left is the catching pen. The next is the tank under narrow roof. The third, and under cover, is the dipping pens. The fourth is a large boiler with fireplace. A man and a boy can easily pass through fifty sheep an hour and do perfect work with the dipping.

Raising Hothouse Lambs. My business is diversified farming, and I make a specialty of raising hothouse lambs for the Chicago market, writes John A. Hill of Texas to the Breeder's Gazette. It is a very nice business for a man that likes the sheep business. I breed high grade South-down ewes and use only registered rams. I sell my lambs at from three to four months old and ship a car of 200 head at a time. They shrink less than any other stock a man can ship. My shrinkage last year was a fraction short of five pounds, and I did not get a good run. My car made an average of forty-six and a half pounds at market and sold for 8 1/2 cents, which I think pays well if one attends to his lambs properly. I begin to feed my lambs as soon as they will eat and let them run with their mother, and they go through a creep into their pen, where they are fed cottonseed, cottonseed meal and bran, having the run of an oat or rye patch.

Advice From Sadi.

Of the distinguished authors of Persian none perhaps has enjoyed a wider popularity than Sadi, who lived in the thirteenth century. He was a great traveler and a close observer, and his anecdotes and short stories are described as being founded on his own experiences and observations. In "Persian Poetry For English Readers" Mr. S. Robinson quotes the following from Sadi's writings:

A pupil said to his instructor, "What am I to do, for people incommode me with the frequency of their visits to such a degree that their conversation produces a great distraction of my valuable time?"

The teacher replied: "To every one who is poor lend and from every one who is rich borrow. They will not come about you again."

Another example embodied excellent advice: A silly fellow, having a pain in his eyes, went to a farrier and asked him for a remedy. The farrier applied to his eyes something which he would have given to an animal, and it blinded him, upon which they made an appeal to the magistrate. The magistrate said:

"This is no case for damages. It is plain that this fellow is an ass or he would not have gone to a farrier."

No man of enlightened understanding will commit weighty matters to one of mean abilities.

A Poser For Conkling.

When Roscoe Conkling first began the practice of law in New York, he lost a most important murder case on which he had worked very hard not only for the fee, which he needed badly, but for a reputation which he had to make. Despite his efforts his client was hanged. Later, when he presented his bill to the man's family, they refused to pay it on the ground that it was excessive. He took the bill to Charles O'Connor, the great criminal lawyer, asking him to pass judgment as to the equity of his charges. O'Connor scanned the account very closely and then, turning to Conkling, very gravely remarked, "Well, Conkling, taking into consideration the enormous amount of energy and time you have devoted to this case, the charges are reasonable, but see here, Conkling, don't you think the man could have been hanged for less money than that?"

The Ptarmigan's Tail.

One of the most entertaining chapters in natural history is that which relates to the many curious means that birds and other animals possess of deceiving the eyes of their enemies. Mr. E. Saunders, in writing of upland game birds, calls attention to a remarkable and beautiful instance. When the ptarmigan puts on its winter dress, it has a black tail. One might suppose that this would attract attention to the bird crouching on the snow, but in fact it serves for concealment. Every projection on a snowfield casts a dark shadow and that is what the tail of the motionless ptarmigan looks like, the body of the bird resembling a mere hump on the white background.

British Museum Treasures.

Among the many costly treasures to be found in the British museum is the "Mainz Psalter," the second book known to have been printed that bears a date and which is valued at $5,000. The books printed by Caxton represent to the museum a fortune in themselves, while the Elgin marbles represent an enormous value only to be estimated in millions. The Rosetta stone might fetch anything from $100,000 to $150,000, and the Nineveh bulls with human heads would be cheap at $50,000.

Foolish Restrictions.

The government has dealt with the foot and mouth disease promptly and generally with good results, but it "fell down" most ridiculously when it ordered an embargo on shipments of wool from Massachusetts, one of the quarantined states, says Stockman and Farmer. But the Boston wool trade soon showed the folly of such regulations and secured a partial release after four or five days. Still any horse having Massachusetts wool in store is forbidden to ship any of its stock, and this is a serious hardship to some extensive dealers. All this Massachusetts wool was clipped and stored months before the outbreak of foot and mouth disease. If it does leave the left it will go to some manufacturer and will in no way injure anything. Such foolishness is not highly creditable to our agricultural department.

Losses Exaggerated.

The Salt Lake City News of Feb. 28 said: "President Jesse M. Smith of the Utah Wool Growers' association has word from various parts of Idaho about the sheep losses from snow, cold and says that reports of wool losses have been much exaggerated and that in a few places only have there been any marked losses. B. J. Saunders has returned from the south country and says that the past season has been an ideal winter one in Idaho for sheep and that they have fared very well there. However, he knows that out on the western desert the sheep have not fared well and that the Snake river desert where the ranges have been covered up by the deep snows the losses among the sheep have been considerable. One grower there has fifteen men doing nothing but skinning dead sheep for their hides."

Wool Not the Whole Thing.

While the wool crop is an element to be considered when estimating the value of the sheep it must not be thought the whole thing, and when the price of the fleece is low do not turn away from the flock or turn them out of the farm simply because that product is not up to what it formerly was, says Wool Markets and Sheep. Think of the many other advantages to be derived in sticking to our white fleeced friends.

The Ubiquitous Union.

Young Wife (sobbing)—Oh, Clarie, I'm so unhappy! I'm going h-h-home to t-t-to my mother!
Clarie—Good gracious, dear! Surely George is not so unkind to you already!
Young Wife (sobbing)—N-n-no, no, no, it's not that. But Mr. Binks, the husband of one of our members, has refused to buy Mrs. Binks a new topie, and the Amalgamated Wives' union has ordered us all out on strike.—Illustrated Bits.

Insulted Her Feet.

Mrs. De Bride was entertaining callers. After they left she remarked to her husband:
"I hope they didn't see my walking shoes lying there. They would think me very untidy if they did."
"Oh, if they saw them they probably thought they were mine," answered her husband in a consoling tone.
And she hasn't spoken to him since.

The Speaker.

Many years ago an Allen county man announced himself as a candidate for the legislature.
"But you can't make a speech," objected a friend.
"Oh, that doesn't make any difference," innocently responded the candidate, "for the house always elects a speaker."—Iola (Kan.) Register.
